Explosive Breaching Technician (TAC-018) - This is a challenging multi- part course. The first two days will consist of a 16 hour training block that will cover all aspects of explosives theory, handling, storage, and explosives calculations. Phase two of the course will focus on tactical explosive entry and will cover internal pressure calculations, target identification/ intelligence, charge selection, charge construction, tactics, techniques and procedures for charge placement and misfire procedures. Course will also discuss and explore alternative breaching techniques such as mechanical and shotgun breaching. Tuition: $1,000

Course Requirements: 10 rds of shotgun ammunition, 6 rds shotgun breaching ammunition your choice, and 2 noise flash diversionary devices (NFDD) per student. Students are required to bring all individual equipment they use on warrant service. Students will be required to have a calculator, ballistic helmet, folding knife, body armor, nomex gloves, eye and hearing protection and a long sleeve shirt for range work. If students desire they can bring their own team equipment such as shields, and mechanical breaching tools.

This is a Colorado POST approved course.
